Welcome

The Littleton Diner is not fast food. Our menu offers traditional home cooked New England meals at reasonable prices. We craft each meal to order - the way you want it prepared.

The main attraction to the Diner is the knowledge that the meal will be hearty, portions generous and prices affordable. Keeping with this tradition is the policy that the food is fresh and prepared on-site. We stay away from the pre-packaged product so basic to the fast food, high turnover restaurants so common today.

The Littleton Diner is standard New England. Our homemade corned beef hash is legendary - soups to desserts are prepared on site by our gifted staff. Specials are crafted daily for breakfast, lunch and dinner.

International guests often ask about tipping...

No service charge is added to your bill for parties of five or less.

Quality service is customarily acknowledged by a 15%-20% gratuity. Thank you

For parties of 6 or more - 18% gratuity is added to your check

We do not accept credit cards, but please feel free to use our on-site ATM

The Littleton Diner Story

On January 16, 1930 the Littleton Courier newspaper reported that workmen for the Stone Brothers of Bethlehem Junction had begun to put in the foundation for a modern parlor car diner in Littleton next to the Masonic Temple. Today, many can still remember the excitement as the diner arrived by rail and was transported to the site. Eugene Stone and his wife Stella opened the Diner in mid-1930. The history of the Littleton Diner had begun. The new restaurant had a seating capacity of 25 and an open kitchen in the dining room just behind the counter. It was an instant success.

In 1940, the Stones purchased a new Sterling Diner and erected it on the original location after selling their first "parlor car". The new Sterling could handle 30 customers initially; just prior to World War II, the kitchen was moved from the dining room and more dining area with seating for about 50 was added. The Stones continued to operate the Diner as one of their several local business ventures from that time until 1960 when they sold it to their daughter Eileen and her husband, Louis Burpee.

The Burpees were hands-on owners until leaving the restaurant business in 1975. Since then, the Diner has changed hands several times. The owners from March 1992 until June of 2003 were Bobbie and Everett Chambers. Under this ownership, Chris Williford was the manager of the Diner from 1997 to 2003. In June 2003, Chris and his wife, Patti Williford purchased the Diner. The Williford's are hands-on owners.

The Diner has benefited from much care and affection over the years. In 1996, the kitchen had a facelift and the additional dining area was re-opened after having been closed for an extended period. The upgraded dining room now features the "North Country Main Street" mural which depicts the magic of northern New England's four seasons as well as the wonderful panorama of Littleton's Main Street. The mural was designed and created by very talented young people from Littleton High School's Art Department.

During the past 50 years, the traditions of the American Diner have been challenged by the fast-food chains that have become commonplace on the American scene. The Littleton Diner has withstood that challenge and continues to serve tradition, the portions are very generous and the prices are more than reasonable.

The Diner was featured in the September '91 issue of Yankee Magazine, a national publication that focuses on life in New England. Subsequently, we have been a subject of PBS's New Hampshire Crossroads program on NH Channel 9 and Boston's ABC affiliate, Channel 5, on their Chronicles production. Given the focus on New Hampshire with the first presidential primary, the Diner has become a very popular locale for visiting politicians from across the country! We have been the subject of numerous newspaper articles ranging from the quality of our service and our food to the relaxed way of life that is northern New Hampshire. In any case, the Diner is an integral part of the North Country community and is dedicated to top quality in hospitality as well as food and service. So please relax with us and enjoy a bit of real old fashioned New England dining with a touch of nostalgia.

We are very glad that you came to see us and hope that you will return often! Please sign our Guest Book to share your experience here with others. We appreciate your business.
